Dear Mac-

Thank you for your advice and permission relative to the republication of the transformation paper.

I'm sorry that I brought up the acetate effect in the same letter, because I had no thought of including this unverified report in the reprint volume. It was entirely an ad hoc query, about something which has been a bother for some time.

Would it be possible, at this late date, for me reasonably to ask whether there are some reprints left of the JEM 1944 paper? My own is rather battered, and it would help considerably in setting up the copy if I could borrow one or two fresh reprints. However, we could manage without.

Sincerely,

J. Lederberg
